WARNS THE PUBLIC NOT TO SUCCUMB TO FOOD 'PANIC BUYING'

Appeal To Be Issued By Prentiss Brown Based On Patriotism

FAIR SHARE FOR EACH

Admit in Some Areas Sufficient Meat Will Not Be Available by 29th

By Alvin Rosenfield

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—(INS)—Price administrator Prentiss M. Brown was expected today to make an appeal to "panic buying" of such meats and other soon-to-be-rationed foods which can be hoarded.

The Brown appeal, like the plea made by OWI chief Elmer Davis and Food Administrator Wickard when canned goods rationing was announced, will be based on patriotism.

Brown is also expected to emphasize the fact that, under the newly-announced ration program, each citizen will get a fair share of meat, butter, shortening and other edible fats and oils, canned fish and cheese.

The Davis-Wickard appeal against canned goods hoarding was declared highly successful by OPA officials, who pointed out that purchasing of canned goods dropped in the weeks following the revelation that processed foods would be controlled.

Meanwhile, these officials admitted that in some shortage areas sufficient meat will not be available as soon as the ration program begins on March 29. Shortages may continue for about two weeks.

However, they were confident that the meat ration program would soon result in a virtually complete end to maldistribution of meats.

Meat rationing, they felt, will give OPA far better control over the meat supply—from farmer, through packer, to consumer—than it has ever had.

Bucks Countian Testifies In Denaturalization Case

NEWARK, N. J., Mar. 13.—A resident of Morrisville, Pa., Homer Platon, gave testimony in Federal Court here on Thursday in which he stated that the former German-American Bund's Camp Nordland at Andover was just a picnic grounds with a place to eat, dance and a lake for swimming.

A defense witness in the Government's contested denaturalization proceedings against Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilhelm Rehfeldt, Trenton, N. J., Platon said that he did not remember seeing any swastikas at Camp Nordland the day he was there.

Mrs. Rehfeldt denied she was a member of the bund and said her only connection with it was as a swimming instructor at the camp. Rehfeldt said he joined the bund solely on a social basis and that he resigned in 1938.

In support of the Government's contention that Rehfeldt was financial secretary of the bund's Trenton unit, Ludwig Schmidt, of Trenton, testified that Rehfeldt sometimes collected dues at unit meetings.

Officials of a Bristol, Pa., aircraft parts company where Rehfeldt is employed as a foreman, testified he was an efficient worker who was helping to speed production for the war effort.

MANY HERE WOULD PLANT GARDENS IF LAND WAS AVAILABLE

If You Have Plot of Ground Which Can Be Used, List It

SEED BOXES APPEAR

Two Plots of Land Already Offered To Courier Readers

Seed boxes—forerunners of Victory Gardens of 1943—have made their appearance.

They are to be found in all sorts of spots—in kitchens and sun-porches of home, in the windows of attic rooms, and one instance is reported of an employee preparing for her seedlings by planting variety of seeds in large boxes in the office where she is employed.

All out for Victory are the former idle plots of ground, the seeds, the garden implements, and the efforts of men, women, girls and boys of the nation.

Many an onion will appear this summer where the air was never scented previously with that type of aroma; and countless radishes and carrots will color below the ground surface as they send their leaves into the sunshine and air.

It is safe to predict that many a dining table will be laden during the coming summer and fall with vegetables fresh from "the patch." And when winter arrives the far-sighted home-maker will be doubly glad that she preserved the surplus. Her storage shelves will be well filled, and her ration points for canned goods will in no way be affected.

It is anticipated that owners of land which is or has been lying idle will volunteer to permit the same to be used for Victory gardens, and there are already countless "takers" in readiness for the offers.

If you have available land, fill in the coupon found elsewhere in these columns, and mail it to the Courier.

Two plots of land have already been listed with the Courier. The names of those having land which they will permit to be used for Victory Gardens will be published within the next few days. It is the object of the Courier to be a means of contact between the person who has unused land and the individual who desires land to plant a garden.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Huge Fires Blaze in Essen

London—Fires visible hundreds of miles away blazed today in the great German industrial city of Essen following a violent night attack by the Royal Air Force against this main center of Adolf Hitler's war production.

Twenty-three planes failed to return. This was the heaviest loss yet suffered by the RAF, since its concentrated assault against the war backbone of the Nazi Reich began more than two weeks ago.

Conservative estimates indicated that at least 500 bombers participated. Pilots who took part in last night's attack said huge "block-buster" bombs dropped caused a huge "rectangular mass" of flames and an enormous cloud of smoke to rise from the target, reaching more than three miles into the air.

"There were two particularly big explosions about ten minutes after the raid began," one of the flyers said. "Flames lit up the cockpits of our planes. The whole target was a mass of fire."

Anti-aircraft guns of every description, hundreds of searchlights and many Nazi interceptor night fighters failed to prevent the bombers from reaching their objective.

Bitter Fighting Near Kharkov

Moscow—Bitter fighting raged within the outer limits of Kharkov today as a strongly reinforced German army strove desperately to recapture the strategic capital of the Ukraine.

Official Soviet circles admitted that Russian troops at Kharkov are hard-pressed, but there was every indication the battle would be long in reaching a decision.

(Editor's note: The German radio claimed that Nazi troops occupied the towns of Bogoduchov, Akhtyrka and Graivoron north of Kharkov, while "railway premises" inside the city were said to have been stormed and seized.)

B and C Holders Must Share Cars

Washington—Holders of B and C gasoline ration books today faced the gloomy possibility of losing their supplemental rations if they cannot show membership in car-sharing groups.

All local boards were instructed by OPA to insist that applicants for B and C books belong to a full ride-sharing club—carrying three or more people—beginning March 22, when the next set of gas coupons become valid.

Hotel Proprietor Held Up, Beaten; Condition Serious

ERWINNA, Mar. 13.—As the result of a hold-up at his hotel, the Delaware House, located here, Jacob Oberaker, 69, is a patient in a private hospital at Frenchtown, N. J. Oberaker was beaten by his assailant on Thursday morning. It is believed he has a fracture of the skull.

Called outside his hotel at about seven a. m. when a man in a car tooted his horn, Oberaker walked to the machine and talked to the stranger for a short time then returned to the bar-room with the stranger.

Inside the hotel the stranger struck the proprietor over the head, possibly using a black-jack, then took about $125 from the cash register. Oberaker grappled with the man, then fell to the floor unconscious. His daughter, Katharine, heard the noise, and when she reached the door saw the car pull away.

3 BID TO COLLECT THE MORRISVILLE GARBAGE

Bids Kept Under Advisement Until Adjourned Meeting of Council

ROAD SIGNS UNHEEDED

MORRISVILLE, Mar. 13.—In response to readvertisement of bids for garbage collection, Morrisville Borough Council received three bids for consideration. They included one from Julian S. Gancarz for a total amount of $8,220, made up of $7,380 for the wrapped garbage and ashes plus $840 for the summer collection.

The second bidder was Dominick Kay, who offered to collect wrapped garbage and ashes for $7,280, this to include the summer collection. George A. Anderson sent in the lowest bid, made up of $437.50 for Summer and $6,562.50 for wrapped garbage and ashes collections, for a total of $7,000.

The bids were turned over to the sanitation and poor committee for consideration. A report will be made at an adjourned meeting on March 22.

It has been found that autoists going to and from work are beginning to disregard certain traffic rules in the borough. The police committee was authorized to arrange for patrolling certain busy intersections in the town, particularly at specified hours.

Borough Engineer Harry H. Lee was authorized to make a complete survey of the town for the purpose of presenting to council a list of the side-

CONGRESS AND TAXES

One source of the trouble Congress is experiencing in coming to a conclusion on a new tax bill—both as to the form of it and the rates—is the unescapable element of unhappiness to the individual taxpayer always present in direct taxes.

There is in Congress an eagerness to ease in some way the impact of the tremendous wartime levies. Shifting the time of assessment and payment from a past to a current year has had wide support, in the hope that it would bring relief or at least the appearance of it.

Adding to the anxiety to ease the immediate embarrassments of tax-paying is the circumstance that until recent years the Federal government obtained the hog's share of its revenues from customs dues and internal excises. The average citizen did not bother to ascertain his part in the payment of these revenues.

Today the government obtains a staggering amount of revenue from levies upon individuals and corporations. The average citizen is conscious of his part in contributing to it, and as a result the nation is tax-conscious as it never has been before.

"DURATION" CHAMPIONS

According to the sports pages, Arturo Godoy, Chilean tangoist, is planning another invasion of the United States in quest of a possible "duration" heavyweight boxing title. This is of sufficient importance to justify lifting comment thereon out of the narrow confines of sports news.

Senor Godoy failed in two attempts to win the world's heavyweight crown from Joe Louis before the United States got into the war. It's to be questioned whether he is eligible for a third try and, anyway, Joe Louis is a sergeant in the Army and his services are not available in defense of his title.

There is no question as to the propriety of leaving Sergeant Louis or any other sports champion who enters the service in possession of his title until he has a chance to defend it. Putting on Uncle Sam's uniform is hardly a reason for depriving a boxer of the honors he has won in the ring.

The result of this entirely justified consideration for Sergeant Louis and the other ring champions who have taken their titles into the service with them is that a lot of second-raters have begun advancing their claims for "duration" titles in the various classes which have lost their head men to the armed forces. This is the condition under which Senor Godoy proposes to launch his new campaign for gold and glory.

There isn't any objection to having Senor Godoy come up here and take down whatever monetary rewards he can get for knocking over any of the current crop of heavyweights he can lure into the same ring with him. Maybe he wouldn't knock over too many of them, at that. But if he intends to go back to Chile with any kind of a "duration" title acquired when the real loss of the heavyweight division wasn't around to debate the issue, phooey.

Everybody knows what a boxing champion is—he's the best man in his division. But what's a "duration" champion? He's at best the second-best man in his division, and that's not being a champion at all. Therefore such recognition should be ruled out altogether. It's neither sporting nor fair to the champions in uniform.

CALL OF LENT

(By The Rev. Henry Cunningham)

The blessed season of Lent is here again! Once more the question arises, "What will it mean to us?" First of all we should remember that Lent is a commemoration of the fasting, temptation, sorrows and death of Jesus our Saviour. So it should be a special period of spiritual contemplation that will bring us nearer to Christ and deepen our interest in spiritual life and service.

The record shows that there are many people who neglect church services on Sunday. Certainly, the present serious situation in which the nation is should lead us to fill our churches to overflowing. The prophet Daniel (4:35) reminds us, "The Lord doeth according to His will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth; and none can stay His hand or say unto Him, What doest Thou?"

Lent is a period of the year in which Christ and His Gospel may have, to an unusual degree, first place, and when the Church may in an especial manner claim our attention.

The season of Lent should bring to all of us new standards by which to measure up to the ideals that our faith in Christ presents to us.

It is a time when the great virtues of our Christianity should be emphasized in the face of the gross immorality, infidelity and other sins that are so prevalent today.

When we survey the wondrous cross on which the Prince of Glory died, surely all self-sufficiency and pride are taken from us, knowing that it was our sin which put Christ on the cross. There he made possible our forgiveness and our salvation.

"Christ died for sins according to the Scriptures" (1 Corinthians 15:3). "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." (Acts 16:31.)

Suggestions for Lent
Be present as far as possible at every service of the Church.

Read the Bible daily and think upon it.

Pray often and be sure it is not a mere form.

Deny yourself some luxury and give its value as an Easter offering to your church.

Let self-examination be a daily duty, and seek to grow in grace.

Make your Lent positive, not merely negative. Do some Christian service, especially endeavor to bring some one to Christ.

MORE AND BETTER GRAVY IS ANSWER TO MEAT PROBLEM

By Edna Stephany

(Home Economics Representative)

More and better sauces and gravies are one answer to the question of how to handle the wartime meat situation. You can spread and save meat flavor and get more servings with gravy and sauces. Treasure all left-bits of meat, scraps of fat and drippings. Scrape the serving platter clean and the cooking pan, too. Some of the finest meat flavor for sauce and gravy may be "browned on" the bottom of the pan. Don't make the mistake of washing it away in the dishpan. And remember that the secret of making a smooth thickened sauce or gravy is to blend flour with fat in equal quantity, then add cool or lukewarm liquid gradually.

while stirring the mixture over low heat. Sauce or gravy made this way will be free from lumps and will not separate. Proportions are: 1½ to 2 tablespoons each of flour and fat with 1 cup of liquid.

Fat that drips from the meat in cooking usually provides enough for gravy. But fat left over from other meat may be used, too. Very often a mixture of fat from different meats gives an extra good flavor to gravy or sauce. Fat as well as meat is extra valuable these days. Keep every scrap of edible fat clean, covered and cold, ready to use for sauces and gravies or for seasoning vegetables.

Several different liquids may be used in making sauce or gravy. The juice that cooks out of roasted or braised meat, or broth made by stewing bones is best for a brown gravy. Tomato juice may also be used, or the liquid drained off cooked vegetables. Water or milk or a mixture of these are also used. Milk is the liquid for light-colored gravy or sauce—for the "cream" gravy served with fried chicken, pork chops, and ground meat patties or for plain white sauce.

These three main ingredients—fat, flour, and liquid—provide most of the food value of the sauce. But the seasonings are the "makings" of the flavor. Seasonings are important, too, in giving variety to sauces and gravies.

vies. Even if you stretch meat with sauces often for the duration you can avoid monotony in meals. In addition to salt and pepper, try seasoning with tomatoes and chopped parsley. Or try chopped celery leaves and chopped onion. Garlic cooked in the sauce and removed before serving gives a delicious flavor to some sauces or gravies. Chopped chives, grown in the sunny south window, add a dash of green color as well as a delicate onion flavor. Dried mushroom stems and peeling are also good.

To make sauce hot, try grated horseradish, mustard, Tabasco, chili powder or dried chili pepper cooked in the sauce and removed before serving. Many garden herbs, fresh and dried, are fine for sauce—mint, thyme, basil, marjoram, and others that grandmother used. Even spices like cloves, ginger, cinnamon and allspice have their place in seasoning meat sauces. For a sweet-sour sauce, both sugar and vinegar are used.

One of the most popular, economical and useful sauces for stretching meat is ground meat sauce. Use any kind of ground raw meat, beef, pork, lamb, veal, and brown in a skillet with a little fat. Then add chopped onion, chopped green pepper and tomatoes. Cook until the onion is tender. Season with salt and pepper. Serve over spaghetti, macaroni, rice or potatoes. This makes a one-dish meal.

"THEY SELL SAILORS' ELEPHANTS" by FREDERICK HAZLITT BRENNAN

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

Followed by Tim and Benny, Benny marched off to their rented car. His gait was jaunty, intrepid and purposeful.

The Pearl stared after them and chuckled.

"Palsie, he safe now, Mistah Angelo!"

Senor Fernandez sighed.

"Life, she ees full of dangairs, Robert. You go put salve on the foots of heem."

"Dat Injun any good fo' doctuhin' horses, y'rekoon? Ol' salve sho' do smell bad."

"Who knows? Some foots Jose Calaveriasista 'as cure, some foots he 'as no cure."

On the way back to Del Mar, Fireman Dunnevan had grave misgivings. He believed that the time had come to strike a balance.

"Look, Benny—"

"Yeah."

"Sedgwick paid us five grand for Shamrock an' that's a good price. We cleant up eleven hundred, hee."

Why ain't we satisfied? Why can't we go back to the Trimble an' be best U. S. sailors. Why, Benny?"

Seaman Linn snorted.

"At Shamrock horse is worth fifty grand. Right, Garvey?"

"As the Lawd is my witness, yes! I could, frankly, sell him all day at that figure."

But Tim beetled his black brows and worried.

"I still say it's outa our line, Benny. You could do slicker with a big motorsicle, raffle, or lemon ranches or a beauty contest, you could, Yersee!"

"Ain't you forgettin' somepin, Tim?"

"What?"

"Our promise to Miss Templeton. She done her part, but did you do yours? Naw. You got stewed on beer an' let a 10-year-old dinky double-cross us. So what? So Sedgwick's got a winner in the palm of his hand instead of a gyp. An' what'll that poor gal say when she finds out?"

"Gee, Benny, that's right!"

Benny turned to Voice Garvey.

"But, oh, no. Tim

Women of Club Listen
To Talk By Dr. F. Nolde

QUAKERTOWN, Mar. 13 — Issues that must be taken into consideration in the formation of the peace were discussed by Dr. Frederick Nolde, Philadelphia, at the meeting of the Quakertown Women's Club, held here Wednesday.

Dr. Nolde, a member of a commission studying terms of a lasting peace, pointed to some of the causes of the present war and cited solutions that can be embodied in a peace treaty. A lasting peace, he said, is as important as winning the war.

Members of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs and their wives were guests at the dinner-meeting. Other guests included 2nd Lt. Edwin Waxman, Fort Pickett, Va., and Capt. and Mrs. Walter L. Deemer, Fort Worth, Texas.

Mrs. Jessie Dotterer, the president, had as her guest, Dr. Ella Bauman, a missionary returned from India.

We humbly thank Thee, Almighty God, for the many blessings thou hast given to our nation, and we pray that we might be able to use those blessings to thy glory and for the advancement of thy kingdom. We praise Thee for the men whom thou hast raised up in the past to give us guidance and to instill within our hearts a strong and abiding faith in thy providence. Be with those who lead us today, O Father, and instill within them a sense of dependence upon thee which will reflect itself in the spiritual life of the Nation. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

RITZ THEATRE

Recommended as one of this season's most entertaining comedy innovations, "Between Us Girls" probably merits a few more compliments than any similar movie release of recent months. There are, however, very few films in the current crop which might be described as comparable to this very modern, completely diverting production. The picture opened yesterday at the Ritz Theatre.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly
(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — (INS) — Two accessories to milady's wardrobe this spring will see a great deal of usage. They are the hatpin and the scarf. Both items admirably serve a double purpose, for they are not only ornamental, they are fundamental.

With the many tailored hats for spring, hats with little or no trimming, and the perennially popular large spring hat, a hatpin at once fills the function of keeping the hat on the head and takes the place of other ornamentation. The scarf in many instances suitably takes the place of a hat, and is a gay and bright accessory note.

Faye Emerson, now being seen in Warner Bros. "Air Force," anchors a smart suit hat, a grey felt homburg.

GRAND THEATRE

Romance, music, laughter and a brand new Hollywood star team are listed as the ingredients calculated to attract special favor for "Moonlight in Havana," coming Sunday to the Grand Theatre.

Allan Jones, who never fails to win the approval of movie audiences, is co-starred with Jane Frazee, vivacious and talented young actress headliner of many film musical successes during the past few seasons.

Laughter and romance in the face of emergency, in bustling wartime Washington, enliven what is literally the cross section of a woman's soul in "The War Against Mrs. Hadley," coming on Monday to the Grand.

BRISTOL THEATRE

"A Night to Remember," mirthful murder mystery, opens Sunday at the Bristol Theatre with Loretta Young and Brian Aherne starred.

A new type of detective is introduced to the screen in "Cosmo Jones in 'The Crime Smasher,'" the comedy-drama with Frank Graham, Richard Cromwell, Gale Storm and Edgar Kennedy in featured roles. Graham tion companies marking stop signs on various poles around the town. The Richmond Bus Line was advised of this policy recently when it sought approval of marking bus stops at certain intervals. Since that time the Nelbauer Bus Line has gone ahead with such bus stop markings without permission from the borough, and for this reason Secretary Howell was authorized to write the company at its Bristol office advising it that such markings must be removed immediately.

Authorization was given for the renewal of fleet insurance on all motor vehicles, including fire apparatus, on which the premium has been reduced from $243 to $200.

A report of proceedings and important proposals which were taken up at the convention of boroughs in Harrisburg February 25, 26 and 27 was given by delegates who attended.

A family group had dinner at his home, in celebration of his 66th birthday, which would have fallen on March 18th. After dinner, he was walking across the floor when he collapsed. Three minutes later, he was dead.

Mr. Worth was a lifelong resident of Bucks County, and had been vice-president of the trust company since it was founded in 1917. He also operated a large farm for many years, but more recently had devoted his attention to banking.

Dr. John A. Prickett, president of the Warrington Lions Club, gave members of the service group much interesting information about the X-ray at their meeting at the Warrington Inn, Tuesday evening.

Dr. Prickett, a member of the staff of the Abington Hospital, took X-ray pictures of several of the approximately 35 members attending the meeting, which was in charge of Vice-President Howard C. Holbert, Sr.

Dr. Prickett, who took a portable X-ray machine to the meeting, told members that the principles of the X-ray were discovered in Germany in 1885 by Dr. Renkin, and that to this day it is known in European countries as the Renkin Ray instead of the X-ray in this country. Ten years after making this scientific discovery, Dr. Renkin published his first paper on the subject.

Dr. Morgan discovered the X-ray in this country in 1895, but because Dr. Renkin got his paper out first, he was given credit for the discovery of the ray.

Pennsylvania State Police have cleared up another burglarizing job in the summer colony section of Upper Black Eddy and two boys have been arrested and lodged in Bucks County Prison, charged with four robberies.

They are: Norman Weaver, 19, Upper Black Eddy, employed in a Frenchtown, N. J., mill, and Steven Dudas, 16, Upper Black Eddy, a truck driver. The boys also confessed to State Police that they burglarized the summer home of Charles Dallas Reach, of Newark, N. J., back in 1939, when they were 12 and 15 years old.

According to Pvt. McCann, of the Doylestown sub-station of state police, who arrested the boys, a hearing will be held in the case in a few days, at the office of Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, at Edison. They have confessed, Pvt. McCann said, to robbing four homes and stealing ammunition, rifles, shot guns, revolvers and tires.

At the summer home of Mrs. Alex Manes, Upper Black Eddy, they stole four tires.

At the farm of Charles Weaver, an uncle of one of the boys, they stole two large tires from a combine.

Mrs. C. H. Johnson's summer home near Erwinna was entered and a radio, rifles, a shot gun and two revolvers stolen.

"LITTLE MAN" MAKES HIT AS WARSHIP BUILDER

By International News Service CHARLESTON, S. C.—(INS)—The "little" man has come into his own at the Charleston Navy Yard and has become a big man in the building of fighting ships.

For proof, Navy Yard officials offer the case of welder Eugene S. David, Jr., of Columbia, S. C., whom the armed forces rejected because of his 42-inch height and 69-pound weight.

Heretofore inaccessible holes in ships under normal circumstances offer no problem at all to David, who can get into these places, and do the work more quickly and more efficiently, thus making for stronger and better construction.

Indispensable in making shortcuts in welding, David, because of his successful work, has caused officials of the Navy Yard to begin looking for small men skilled in shipfitting, plumbing and painting.

The police say that Hamm signed a statement in which he said that he returned from his employment Thursday afternoon at about five o'clock. He went to his home, had supper and then went to a taproom on Mansion street, where he had six beers. Then at about 9.30 Hamm stated, it is said, that he walked down the alleyway between Garden and Mansion streets, went into the Watkins garage, lighted a cigarette and then ignited some paper and then left the building.

Hamm told the police that he had no ill feeling against the Watkins family, whatever, but merely set fire to the garage because he liked the thrill of seeing the fire engines going fast.

Hamm is the father of two children, and has lived in Bristol for 15 years. After the fire on Thursday night, Hamm said that he went to a taproom on Beaver street and then went home and went to bed.

The Watkins garage was the second garage in the Garden street area to be discovered afire since Sunday night, when the garage of Alexander DiTullia, 813 Beaver street, was damaged, and a pony burned to death.
